6 INTERACTIVE PRACTICE:

IN DELIVERING THOUGHTFUL DESIGN

Carin Smuts: CS Studio Architects

As part of the Global Award for Sustainable Architecture, each year's winner must design a sustainable house/dwelling. We would like to see the rich and interesting discussion that develops while leading participants through the process of designing such a project using participatory methods typical of our practice. These include developing a vision for 10 years in the future, working on aims and objective to draft a plan of action, and finally creating a drawing or collage that will represent the entire process--with emphasis on the fact that it can be understood should it be presented to another party.
